WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. - Major Gen. James B. Aleshire, who has been quartermaster general of the army since 1907 yesterday was placed on the retired list on account of disabilities incident to the service. General Aleshire would not have been eligible for retirement under the legal limit of 64 years until Oct. 31, 1920. He was appointed a cadet at West Point June 14, 1876, from Ohio and was originally an officer of the First Cavalry. He entered the staff as Captain and Assistant Quartermaster in 1895. He has been in that branch of the service ever since. He served in Cuba and the Philippines, and in China during the Boxer campaign, General Aleshire was largely instrumental in bringing about the amalgamation of commissary and pay departments with the Quartermaster department. His present state of ill health has been attributed to the demands on his physical strength involved in the organization of the Quartermaster or; s on its present basis. While at West Point General Aleshire was the roommate of Major Gen. George W. Goethals, the builder of the Panama canal.
